Maxwell and Giuffria bicker over salary

By Bob Innes Long Beach Bureau Chief

Starting off the regular meeting of the Long Beach City Council Tuesday was Alderman Sal Giuffria, who immediately responded to acting Mayor Sam Maxwell saying that "12,000 per year is a fair salary for the mayor of Long Beach

The salary question settled in a special meeting of the council last week was rehashed at the beginning of Tuesday night's meeting, but before a political forum developed acting Mayor Sam Maxwell said firmly, "We're not going to have a debate during city time," and Maxwell added that if he (Guiffria) wanted to sit down with the press after the meeting he would agree

Giuffria, a member of the city finance committee and newest candidate for the mayor's race said, "The city can afford a $12,000 mayor.

In a recent newspaper advertisement. Maxwell said if elected be would ask the council to reduce the salary to the suggested $9,600. Alderman J. E. Moran suggested the figure last week and Alderman Bob Richards made a motion to amend the resolution to read $12,000

Maxwell told members of the press that "we're already $23,000 short of reaching our budget and cuts will have to be made all the way down the line." Guiffria said that the city can afford it and there would be no tax increase, but

Giuffria further explained that he had talked with several mayors along the coast "who didn't want to be quoted and they said that $12,000 is a fair salary for the Mayor of Long Beach."

After the meeting Giuffria referred to an advertisement and a newspaper article calling them misleading because, "in one he (Maxwell) says he would if elected try and get the salary reduced, and in the other Maxwell says the city can afford it." Giuffria further explained that figures in the ad secured by Maxwell from the Research and Development Commission at Gulf Park Campus are "inaccurate and that they don't reflect additional expense allowances.

Maxwell in an advertisement termed the salary of the Long Beach Mayor the highest one of any mayor of the Coast.

Maxwell previously cited rising expenses, such as electricity, gasoline and general operating expenses as an obstacle in ths way of the salary raise. Alderman Jimmy Savarese said that $9,600 is an adequate salary.....

Finally the newest candidate for mayor noted that if anything is out of line, "it's the salary of the Aldermen." Gruffria is the second of the two highest paid aldermen on the council.

Business on hand included approving a bid from Merchants Bank and Trust Co, for a loan of $200,000 for operating . expenses of Long Beach Schools at an interest rate of 5.85 percent. With the stipulation that the loan will be repaid on or before March 15, 1975. The only other bid submitted was from Hancock

Richard said "we're going to build more courts, and hopefully construction will begin this calendar year. "We've applied but we need to put in appearance at the board," explained Richards.

A letter from Leroy Nettles, a resident of the city asked the board to buy a portion of his property "in order to have a usable road to reach the Lang Avenue well." Nettles offered to sell the west 50 feet of his property which is 117 feet wide and adjoins the present tenfoot right-of-way. After discussion Savarese made the motion and the board approved the purchase of the property for the amount of $1,200, "which will come from federal grant funds," explained Savarese.

Finally the board, received and agreed to file the school audit ending June 30, 1974.

as a representative of the company, Kniffin will coordinate all activities related to the new DuPont plant at DeLisle which will manufacture titanium dioxide necessary for the production of paint, paper and other items used daily by the public.

Lojewski, an official of the DuPont Co. Pigments Dept., Wilmington, Del.

Kniffin has stated that he is pleased to respond to the invitations to meet with citizens of the Gulf Coast and is looking forward to discussing fortheoming plans for the plant's construction, employment of local residents and any other questions concerning the company's operations. All meetings will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the following locations: Aug. 27, Coast Electric Power Co. auditorium, Highway 90 Bay St. Louis; Aug. 28, Mississippi Power Co. auditorium, Highway 90 Gulfport; Aug. 29, Annunciation School, Kiln.

U.S. Senator John Stennis Friday afternoon from 5 to 6 p.m. at Scafidi's Wheel Inn on Highway 90, according to a Chamber of Commerce spokesman. Sen. Stennis will be the guest speaker at a banquet Friday night at the National Space Technology Center, jointly sponsored by the Picayune and Han-findings on resolution of means to meet the budget's $1,394,000 requirements. Both Mayors Warren Carver and John Longo of Waveland had expressed displeasure over the weekend that neither had been asked to attend the Monday night meeting, which Ladner stated would be a closed meeting.

At the opening of Tuesday's meeting, Ladner qualified his earlier remarks about the meeting and said that it would have been open to the public "but not to the press". "If the press were there," Ladner said, "we wouldn't have been able to speak freely and get this thing resolved.'

A number of citizens from Waveland and the Bay attended Tuesday's meeting and fired questions at Ladner and Kidd about the school budget. which was due in Jackson for state approvàl July 15.

Asked repeatedly for specific figures on the tax raise and how much the city needed to meet the budget, Ladner never did give a concise answer. He said the city's district assessment rolls were so varied that it was impossible to determine a percentage. District taxes range from 10 percent to 75 percent, he explained, and what he hoped to accomplish by the "adjustment" was to equalize the tax roles to an average of 30 percent, as most he felt were around 15 percent now.

Although Ladner and Kidd verbally consistantly referred to a "tax equalization" the motion spread on the minutes called for an "adjustment" with no determined amount or clarification of control.

Recent cuts in the budget by the school trustees had lopped off about $75,000. Ladner said at one point, but the city still falls short of an estimated $71,000, necessitating the tax adiustment.

Ladner-said-he-didn't-know-vet-howhe would accomplish the across the board adjustment and Mayor Carver expressed apprehension over the action, saying that he felt "none of us is qualified to assess ad valorem property."

Ladner said they might use the current appraised values of homes and properties, as set by county tax assessor-collector George Heitzmann, and either raise or lower each to meet a 30 percent figure.

Effective August 14, the Hancoek County United Fund chapter officially changed its name to the United Way of Hancock County, by designation of Heber Ladner, Secretary of the State of Mississippi.

Norton Haas, Sr., president of the Board of Directors of the Hancock County chapter, announced that the name change is a result of action by the board in order to conform with the National United Way movement, which aids in the solicitation of funds for the cover agency.

The Hancock County United Fund was organized in 1964 by a group of local citizens to relieve the community of multiple fund raising campaigns. A drive is conducted each October to provide financial support for the many member agencies included in the fund, which include: The Areawide Senior Citizens Model Project, Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), Hancock County Emergency Relief Fund, Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, Catholic Social Services, The Hancock County Chapter of The American Red Cross. Levens elected to IPA

The Board of Governors of the International Platform Association announce the election to IPA membership of Dr John B. Levens, 118 Whispering Pines, Waveland, Miss.

The International Platform Association, a non-partisan organization of distinguished and dedicated persons from 55 nations, was founded 150 years ago by Daniel Webster.

Actively sponsored at "the beginning of the century by Mark Twain, William Jennings Bryan, Carl Sandburg, President William Howard Taft Governor Paul Pearson. Theodore Roosevelt, and other orators and celebrities of the old Chautauqua, the IPA has included among its members all of the U.S. presidents since Theodore Roosevelt. Its present membership lists many celebrities of the press, TV, radio, movies, and the Theatre, as well as a leavening of those who listen and those who are interested in furthering IPA's objectivethat of improving the quality of the American Paltform.

Every summer the IPA holds a five-day convention in Washington, D.C. which last summer was attended by over a thousand members from all over the world. The most pressing national and international problems of the day are presented by nationally prominent figures (most of them IPA members) who, because they hold the levers of power, are in the best position to state the strongest position informatively on one side or the other of the important questions of the day.

Among those who have appeared before previous conventions are Secretary of Kissinger, State Henry Senator Sam Ervin, President Gerald Ford, Bob Hope, McGovern, Ralph George Nader, Lowell Thomas, Johnson, Art Lyndon Linkletter, Jeane Dixon, Nelson Rockefeller, George Romney, Mayor Lindsay, Senators Scott, Muskie, Goldwater, Taft, Tunney, Fulbright and Humphrey; Martin Luther King, Drew Pearson, Irv Kupcinet, David Brinkley, Jack Anderson, Clark Mollenhoff, Ted Mack, Lawrence Spivak, Averell Harriman, James Kilpatrick and scores of others.

The IPA is the club and professional association of those, who appear before audiences in all media and of those interested in the power of oratory and the spoken word.

USM and MGCJC officials meet

Joint cooperation between the University of Southern Mississippi-Gulf Park and the Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College was the theme of a recent meeting at USM-Gulf Park, according to officials of the two campuses.

In a joint statement, Dr. Gomer Pound, dean of USM's Division of Extension and Public Service, and Dr. J. J. Hayden Jr., MGCJC president, termed the meeting as successful in furthering the goal of the relations committee. The committee is designed to dimish duplication of programs between the two campuses and increase the number of joint ventures.

One of the specific areas covered was that of community services courses and programs. USM-Gulf Park and the Junior college campuses at Perkinston, Jackson County, and Jefferson Davis

By far, above and beyond all other questions sent to this column, those concerning marijuana lead the list.

Yet. I have hesitated to discuss this subject because it is such a debatable topic. There are literally thousands of books written on the subject, most of which are outdated before they reach the bookstores. So much research is being done on marijuana that one can find facts and figures to support any argument at all, on either side of any issue.

It has reached the point where people are now choosing to stress only those aspects of reported research which support the value systems which underlie their own attitudes. In other words, we cite studies that back up whatever we wish to be true. What are the facts' We are still trying to find them.

First of all . . . what is marifuana" It is a preparation derived from the dried flowers, leaves, stems, and fibrous parts of the plant cannabis sativa, sometimes hashish comes from the resin of the flowering tops of this it is. Prospects poor for fall building

Some experts believe the prime rate may have peaked and short-term interest rates may soon go down, meaning more funds for mortgage credit in 1975.

However, even a sharp reversal of the monetary situation would not have an effect soon enough for the autumn building season, and the annual rate of housing starts could drop to 1.4 million and perhaps lower later this year.

develop a physical depenof the world to another, that it dence upon it so that he actually suffers physically if he does not have the drug. We species. The appearance, often see this in alcoholics who experience DT's if they suddenly stop drinking. Second, one must have a pyschological dependence upon the drug so that he THINKS he must have it. An example of this is the marijuana we usually picture cigarette smoker who will search frantically for a cigarette when he finds his pack empty, even to the point of going out to find an open store in the middle of the And third, one must develop tolerence to the drug so that he needs more and more to get the same feeling or results. Anyone who has taken diet pills or sleeping pills daily for longer than two weeks has experienced tolerance to the drug and finds that he needs more than one pill in order to keep from being hungry or to get to sleep as quickly. Using this definition of addiction, then, marijuana is not addicting.

()ne can smoke marijuana every day, for a year, stop altogether, and not feel any physical craving or need. Tolerance does not develop. The potency of the marijuana determines the effect and this seems to remain the same no matter how often it is smoked. As far as psychological dependency, this is a debatable issue. One can be psychologically addicted to some soft drinks, candy bars, anything. Anyone who smokes cigarettes has a psychological dependency. And if you NEED that cup of coffee to get going in the morning you are psychologically dependent upon coffee.

Thus, it might be said that the person who smokes marijuana everyday and is emotionally upset when he doesn't have any, is psychologically dependent upon it, although to a lesser degree than tobacco.

Is this malfeasance?

We are charging the Bay-Waveland school board with failure in one of its most important responsibilites -- that of supervising the school's monies.

We are charging every member of the board, past and present, with allowing, therefore condoning for years the fraudulent misuse of local, state and federal funds, amounting to more than $1 million annually.

The burden of guilt does not lie entirely with the school superintendent at whom all fingers are pointing and against whom all stones are being cast. He is, admittedly, the primary force in the school system's operation and has, by his own admission. maintained an autonomous and subversive control over the schools, faculties and

However, every member of the board and most of all the board attorney, is equally guilty for allowing him to continue unchecked in a lengthy career of reprehensible practice.

Since 1954 a field inspector with the State Audit Office has performed the only audit of the school system's books. This man, who a few weeks ago stated in a newspaper interview that he "was quitting" the audits, is neither licensed nor certified as a public accountant. He is by definition of the state auditor, Mr Hamp King, only a "field inspector". With the full consent of the local school board, Robert Hoffman was paid by the school system more than $2,500 a year to perform a quarterly audit on an indefinite schedule.

Since 1971 state law has required that all school system books be audited "once a year-by a certified public accountant, licensed to practice in the state of Mississippi"

Since the passage of that code amendment, the Bay-Waveland school board has been operating unlawfully by allowing only Mr. Hoffman's audits of the books.

Other serious irregularities have come to light in the school system and the most recent is the decision of the two Bay commissioners, against the wishes of the mayor, to arbitrarily almost double the Bay and Waveland district tax assessments by a motion which calls for an "adjustment of the percentage". That kind of wording leaves the commissioners absolute license to impose any figure they wish, however astronomical, on the tax payers of the two cities.

These actions smack of malfeasance in office on the board members, the attorney whose duty it is to keep the boards legal, and the commissioners.

These are serious allegations, but so are many of the actions on the part of the governing officials which now threaten to engulf the unsuspecting public, and, as usual, further exploit the innocent children who have no recourse.

A backward glance

An item in Bygone Days this week notes the opening of the Weston Hotel, "Bay St Louis' handsome new transient and tourist hotel" 50 years ago this month.

It was indeed a handsome facility, in its heyday in the 1920's it soon became the chic watering spa of the South. Elegant people from New Orleans and Mobile flocked to the Weston through the 30's and as late as the 40's one could still enjoy Gulf breezes and a genteel atmosphere at the Weston. In those days there were also three other large and rather elegant hotels in Bay St. Louis whose accommodations and cuisines were well known to wealthy New Orleanians.

They all faced the beach and were surrounded by the beautiful old homes for which the coast was once famous.

The hotels in no way detracted from the residential quality nor did beach front home owners object to the hotels and their guests. There was a general amicable cohabitation for years.

Today, the Weston as a hotel is no more, Camille removed almost all of the summer mansions on the beach and the once bustling and beautiful Bay-Waveland beach drive is dead. Motels line Highway 90 but tourists and visitors mostly pass through on their way to Harrison County and on to Florida.

Instead of progressing as a waterfront resort area, we have regressed. Not only is there nothing to entice visitors to our beaches and no accommodations to encourage them to linger but today, concerted efforts are made by beach front property owners to stiffle any such development,

Efforts on the part of both cities' councils to promote public recreational facilities on the waterfront, such as beach parks, marinas, fishing and boating piers bring almost violent reactions and en masse protests from this group.

They successfully turned Pete Fountain away from building what would have been an attractive and much needed resort hotel, then condominium apartment complex on the beach and Highway 90.

A New Orleans developer preservered through every kind of deterrent to build a similar condominium 300 feet off the beach in Waveland, so far down as to be almost

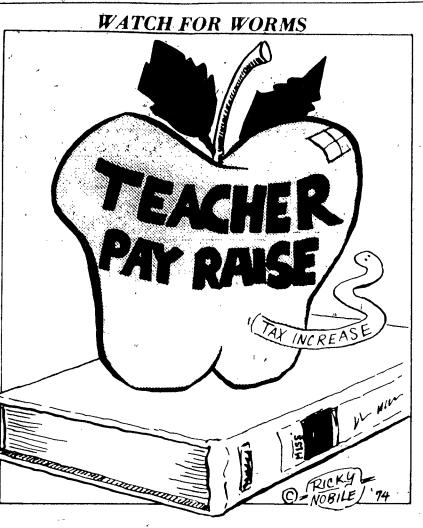

The majority of these protesters are not even local residents. They own property here on which they pay taxes, but most actually live in New Orleans, make their livelihoods there and elsewhere and when they come to the Coast, often bring their accountrements for living with them, which they have purchased out of the area.

We do not understand their reasoning nor their motives. What are they protecting? Certainly not the pristine beauty of the home sites now on the beach. Never again will the Bay-Waveland beach drive match the splendid architectural grace of the 20's, 30's and 40's. Families today do not have the incomes necessary to build and maintain such homes, nor do we have the quality of families vacationing here that we had 40 and 50 years ago.

Since it is an understood fact that we cannot go back - why can we not go forward?

As we sit writing this, thunder is booming around the house fit to lift the roof. Which reminds us of the fantastic story of Gaston Bonchance.

Gaston lived with his teenage daughter, Fifi, in a little house about the size of a toolshed on the border between Bay St. Louis and Waveland. At that time, he had no special claim to fame, but never gave up hope that something good would happen to him someday. Meantime between fish, shrimps, crawdads and an occasional day's work as a handyman, Gaston and Fifi managed to get along like bugs in a

One summer afternoon a storm floated in from the Bay. This was not unusual, but this storm was a big one, the granddaddy of them all. The lightning spurted and crackled, the thunder made the little house shiver and shake. Then came the biggest bolt of lightning ever seen in these the sharp pointed end drove itself into the ground by the Bonchance houseand stayed there, shimmering and spewing sparks and flame!

When the storm at last abated, Gaston and Fifi ventured into the yard to look at the bolt. It was so hot that they could not go very close to it, and Gaston feared that the house would catch fire, but at that moment the Waveland fire department dashed up and within half an hour had cooled the blazing intruder down to a smoking shaft rising twenty feet into the air.

Neighbors crowded around; nobody had ever seen anything like this, truly a bolt from the blue.

Then Gaston had his big idea. Quickly he hired a dozen men and ordered immediate rush delivery of material from the lumber yard, and within twenty four hours had erected a ten-foot-high fence around the cooling bolt. Fifi was installed at the entrance to sell admission tickets, and within twenty four hours the money began

People came from everywhere to see this marvel. A dozen busses a day came from New Orleans and Jackson and as far away as Atlanta and Jacksonville. Scientists and other learned men arrived by the scores. But after maybe two or three weeks, it was all over-the bolt fell down. In the damp ground it had rotted away at the pase, and the top twenty feet crashed to the Bonchance yard, where it too disintegrated in the damp grass until finally nothing remained but some fine

But meantime Gaston had made a fortune. He bought two cars and a bighouse on the Beach road. Soon thereafter Fifi married the only son of the Bay banker, Thunderstorms continued to flash around the house, but when one came Gaston merely retired to a closet and occupied his mind with other topics such as pictures, taste, Shakespeare, and the musical glasses.

Many veterans become ill and use their life savings to pay for needed hospital care before they inquire as to their entitlement to be admitted to a Veterans Administration hospital.

This announcement was made today by Chester L. Curvey, Veterans Service Officer for Hancock County.

Medical and hospital care are very expensive today, and most people who are regularly employed are covered by some type of health and hospitalization insurance. Many veterans fail to realize that they may be eligible for care in Veterans Administration hospitals even though they are covered by insurance.

Eligible for admission to any Veterans Administration hospital is a veteran who was discharged or released under other than dishonorable conditions from either a peacetime or a wartime period of service in the Armed Forces of the United States. Medical emergencies always have first priority for admission, followed by veterans who require hospitalization because of a disability which was incurred during service.

Some veterans must show evidence of inability to pay for the needed care before they can be admitted. This is not necessary if the veteran is seeking treatment for a service-incurred disability, if he is receiving VA disability compensation or pension, if he was released from service because of a service-connected condition, or if he is 65 years of age or older.

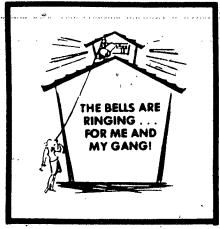

A private doctor may expedite admission by contacting the VA hospital by telephone. Ambulance travel will be authorized if it is required and is justified by the doctor. Application for admission may be made by mail if accompanied by a medical statement from a private physician, or the veteran may present himself at the hospital for examination to determine need for care.

A child of any veteran remains forever a child of a veteran regardless of any circumstances, such as adoption, and retains all rights and benefits to which such child is entitled according to Veterans Administration regulations.

This applies to a child who may be adopted out of a veteran's family before or after a veteran's death. Regardless of the circumstances, he is still a child of a veteran, and is eligible for benefits payable under all laws administered by the Veterans Administration. This also includes children of a retired serviceman, who has divorced the mother of his children. These children - are entitled to medical treatment at any Military installation on the same basis as if they were living with their father, which is space and facilities available.

Issuing a blistering attack on what he called "federal interference in private enterprise," Senator John C. Stennis today said "federal regulation of business procedures" has reached the point where one could "wonder whether we are justified in calling it a free enterprise system."

The Mississippi Senator said it takes 195 pages in the United States Government Manual to list the Independent Agencies with "a large part of them in the business of telling citizens what they can and cannot do in the pursuit of their occupation."

Although speaking in opposition to the creation of an Agency for Consume Advocacy, Stennis said, "I am for the consumers. . .if it weren't for consumers there wouldn't be much reason for American business to exist."

However, Stennis charged in his speech before the Senate that the 'ultimate effects'' of creating the Agency "will not be good either for the" public as a whole or for the business community."

Pinpointing the enormous volume of federal regulations, Stennis cited Senate Committee hearings of last year that revealed "there were about 5,300 different types. . . of forms that come under the supervision of the Office of Management and Budget. . . which does not include all the tax forms. . .or banking forms."

"The National Small Business Association estimated that adding just one form for all businesses to fill out costs small businesses $19 million," Stennis said.

Calling these expenses "nonproductive cost," Stennis warned that very much more government harassment of small business" will create a situation where "some businesses will not be able to survive."

"There is no sensible way," Stennis said, "to rationalize the degree to which the Federal bureaucrats have entered into the management of free enterprise '

Stennis said he could support a consumer agency "if the laws establishing all the other regulatory agencies were repealed.'

NEWS FROM -SENATOR JAMES O. EASTLAND

Mississippi's James O. Eastland last week became the first President Pro-Tempore of the Senate in this century to assume the duties of the Vice President twice within one year. Senator Eastland, who is President pro tempore of the Senate, assumed the Vice Presidential responsibilities Friday when Gerald R. Ford became the 38th President of the United States: Eastland had previously served as "acting Vice President" last year after the resignation of Spiro T. Agnew. "The main responsibility placed on me is to fulfill the Constitutional duty of the Vice President to preside over the Senate," said Senator Eastland. "As President pro tempore, I'm accustomed to doing this in any absence of the Vice President."

Under the twenty-fifth amendment to the Constitution, a vacancy in the Vice Presidency is filled by the President appointing a Vice President and the appointee being confirmed by a majority of both houses of Congress. After Agnew's resignation on October 10, 1973, Senator Eastland served until Ford took the Vice Presidential oath on December 6, 1973.

"I see my role as that of a caretaker until the President can appoint a new Vice President and he is confirmed by the Congress. It's unfortunate that this situation has arisen, but it proves beyond doubt that our Constitution can face and survive the ultimate test," Senator Eastland said.

"It's now very important that a new Vice President be appointed quickly, but at the same time, carefully. The Nation must be able to meet the grave issues before us with solid, confident, and competent leaders."

Senator Eastland now has all the powers and perogatives of his new position. He will, by law, receive the $62,500 salary of the Vice President and now directs the 35-member staff in four additional offices - - one in the White House, one in the Senate Office. Building, and two in the Capitol. Senator Eastland already has two offices assigned to him as President pro tempore.

He now has the vice presidential limousine and White House aircraft at his disposal. Nevertheless, Eastland will keep the limousine parked in the garage and continue to use his Senate automobile. He will continue his practice of flying to and from Mississippi on regular commercial flights except in urgent situations.

Senator Eastland is behind only the Speaker of the House in line of Presidential succession.

In addition to being the Presiding Officer of the Senate, he receives all communications from the President, heads of executive departments, and from foreign governments. "My staff is now becoming accustomed to handling the official mail sent to the Vice President," said the 33-year Senate veteran.

One of the chief features of the post is referring to committees all bills introduced in the Senate. He has the power to say which of the 17 major committees can consider the proposed legislation. And, be must sign every bill passed by Congress before it can become law.

Eastland will appoint official representatives from the United States to many international meetings as well as members of joint committees, national commissions and governmental boards.

While facing this new responsibility with confidence and determination to serve the Nation well. Senator Eastland is looking forward to returning to his primary role of being senior Senator from Mississippi, "The people elected me to serve them and I think that's what I do best."

On rare and sometimes unusual occasions, one is privileged to meet extraordinary people. It was my good fortune to meet such a man on July 21, 1974 in the person of Patrolman Thomas Ruspoli of your Pass Christian Police Department. My children and I were passing through Pass Christian on a Sunday and had automobile problems. Patrolman Ruspoli came to our aid and exhibited such qualities of manner and helpfulness as to be an inspiration to adults and children alike.

I seriously want to express my commendation for his efforts on our behalf, and the excellent image he portrays relative to law enforcement

In addition to Patrolman Ruspoli's efforts, a Deputy Sheriff Pyle stopped and offered his assistance. His generous offer was very much ap-

This one-act burlesque of the old-fashioned melodrama was everything a relaxed, vocal audience could want to boo, hiss and cheer. The freewheeling story was a good vehicle for the older members of the Junior Theatre. It was great fun for them and for the

As Augustus Greystone, Vic Franckiewicz, Jr., was adequate as the ailing, irritable victim of Bertram Oleander, the villain. Karen Trudell was a flustered and appealing heroine. As the hero, Manly Rash, Jim Holmes reminded one of those grave, handsome old Arrow collar ads. Franya Franckiewicz appeared as the finger of fate in the denouement. Her slinky, black-clad policewoman with a huge sequinned pistol was a witty performance.

Both sets were pleasing. The absence of clutter in the scene for "Egad, What a Cad" was particularly so.

keeping you in touch By F M Kyle Jr Gulf Coast District Manager

Every telephone in Mississippi now can be connected to over 128,000,000 others in over 53,000 cities by direct dialing. That's a lot of separate places to dial! But, if you happen to dial a wrong number, don't worry. Just call the operator right back and give your number along with the number you were trying to call. You will not be billed for dialing the wrong number.

August marks a milestone in the development of communication facilities in Mississippi. The long_range plan of converting all phones to the one_ plus direct distance dialing system, which began in Greenwood in December 1961, was completed on August 17 when the last exchange was converted at Standard, Mississippi in Harrison county. Now over 575,000 Mississippians can dial direct station_to_station on all long distance calls and enjoy the speed and économy of I plus long distance dialing.

Customers here in the Gulf Coast area can also enjoy special optional conveniences like Trimline, and Princess telephones. Call our business office to make your own selection of styles and colors.

Along with such personalized telephone services, communications in Mississippi have come a long way. And phones help us in more ways than ever housewives shop by phone, business people buy and sell products or conduct meetings, and families keep in touch with friends and relatives.

Phones can be a big energy and time saver, too. Like using your phone to form a car pool and to keep it running smoothly during busy school days. One important thing to remember when it's your turn to drive; watch out for children, especially by observing the driving speed in school zones.

All the South Central Bell people in the Gulf Coast area plan to do their part as concerned citizens in helping make this coming school year one of the safest and happiest for all our children. We hope you will, too.

COOLING TOWER CONSTRUCTION - - Construction is progressing on this mammoth cooling tower, part of a $7.7-million closed-cycle cooling water system at Mississippi Power Company's Plant Jack Watson in Harrison County. The tower foundation, 287 feet in diameter, contains more than 2,000 cubic yards of concrete. Thirteen large fans located at the top of the tower will cool over 10 million gallons of water per hour. When placed in service next year, the pollution control facility will stand about five stories tall.

Treating small grain seed will help some but will not give a high level of control of rust and Septoria organisms.

AQUATIC WEED CONTROL Preventive measures should be taken wherever possible to prevent the development of a weed problem in farm ponds. Site selection should be such that the ponds will be free from polluted drainage and then constructed so as to have a minimum of shallow water. It is difficult for weeds to become established in water more than three feet deep.

Power Co. answers questions

President Victor J. Daniel, Jr. recently discussed the cost of electric service before a joint meeting of the Mississippi House Public Utilities Com-Committee of the Senate. His prepared statement incorporated the following answers to questions most frequently asked by consumers periencing high electric service bills this year?

A. Their bills are higher this year than last due primarily to the increased cost of fuels burned to generate electricity. In addition, we applied to the Mississippi Public Service Commission for rate relief that has increased their bills by approximately 10 percent as the new rates have been placed in effect under bond, pending judicial appeals.

affected the company? A. Yes, it has affected us in three major areas: (1) increased cost of fuel, (2) shortage of fuel supplies, and (3) increased construction expenditures in the amount of $56,236,000 to convert generating facilities to enable them to burn alternate fuels since the primary fuels for which the facilities were originally designed are not presently available. Some 68 percent of our system generating capacity is designed to use coal; the balance, constructed prior to 1965, was designed to burn natural gas as a primary fuel and either No. 2 or No. 6 oil as an alternate fuel. Although we have long-term contracts with - matural gas jumped 25 percent United Gas Pipe Line Company to supply natural gas, our supplier has been allowed by the Federal Power Commission to curtail this delivery Currently we are

Fertilization of ponds and lakes can either reduce or increase weed problems. If the pond or lake is already infested with weeds, then fertilization is likely to increase the weed growth. Where weeds are already established first control the vegetation with either herbicides or mechanical

Mississippi Power Company of this curtailment, it is three years will amount to for the first seven months of issue, under present cirnecessary to burn much nearly $255 million. higher priced oil.

Q. How does this influence a customer's electric bill?

A Historically, Mississippi mittee and the Public Utilities Power Company, along with other electric utilities throughout the country, has included a fuel adjustment clause as part of its rates. Fuel is such a significant and variable cost item that rate regulation is most equitable to Q. Why are customers ex- all only when the cost variation is reflected automatically on customers' bills Each month the price paid for each kilgwatt-hour used by a customer is raised or lowered to reflect the change in the overall cost of fuels used to generate electricity by the company

> Q. Does the company make any money from this fuel adjustment?

A We are aware that customers' bills have in-Q. Has the energy crisis creased noticeable as a result of the rise in fuel cost However, the "company receives no profit from this increase. We are merely recovering most of the cost we Mave actually incurred

Q. How much has the cost of fuel increased? A. In June, 1974, Mississippi Power & Company' paid 60.25 cents per million BTU for gas, 186 50 cents per million BTT for oil, and 55.09 cents per million BTU for coal. To illustrate how fuel prices have increased from June, 1973, to June, 1974, natural gas is up 8 1 percent; oil, 104 7 percent; and coal, 607 percent Unfortunately, we see no end to rising fuel prices. The price of

Q. What are your plans to supply present and future electric power requirements in southeast Mississippi?

A. The electric industry is capital intensive, in that it requires enormous sums of money for construction to meet the demands of its customers. In fact, it requires a greater investment in facilities to produce a dollar of revenue than any other industry of which I am aware. Based on present forecast, our construction requirements for the next five years are estimated to exceed the gross investment in plant made by The recompany since lits beginning in 1925, and a substantial part of these requirements will be for new generating units. Ws spent over $273 million during the last 10 years for new facilities and estimate that the requirement for construction of plant additions to our electric system in the next

Q. Many businesses look at current business conditions and then decide whether or not to invest, If conditions are not favorable, can't Mississippi Power defer construction plans?

A. We do not have this option. We must either continue to invest or run out of capacity to serve our customers. The public interest and interest of our customers is better served by reasonable rate increases from time to time which perserve the financial integrity of the company than by a policy under which our company would have too little capacity and be forced to tell our customers that we will not be able to supply all of their electric requirements

Q. Has inflation been a problem for a large company like yours?

A Mississippi Power Company, like all other businesses, has certainly felt the errosive effects of inflation Capital costs are up dramatically For instance, the interest rate in 1962 on the company's first mortgage bonds was 41+ percent, and this rate increased to 8% percent by 1971, Capital costs on preferred stock have followed a similar pattern. Inflation has increased the gost of materials used in the construction of power lines. During the period from 1969 to February, 1974, wire conductors increased 49 percent; treated pine crossarins were up 109 percent, 5-16 inch steel guy aire was up 57 percent; and power installed anchors increased 37 percept

Q. What about inflation's effects on generating capacity

A. We are seeing a startling increase in the cost per kilowatt of generating capacity for our new Jackson County Steam Plant to actual cost per kilowatt generating capacity at our Plant Jack Watson in Harrison County, Unit number five at Plant Watson was completed in April, 1973, at a cost of $136.77 per kilowatt; unit number one at Jackson County is projected to be completed in February, 1976, at a cost of $240.16 per kilowatt, a 75.6 percent increase in less than three

Q. Have these inflationary factors affected Mississippi Power Company's financial position?

A. Hiop Mississippi Power Cor pany operated at a loss for March and April, 1974, the first actual loss incurred in any month since 1941. Our financial condition is such that 1974, net income was 42 per- cumstances, another dollar of cent below that for the preferred stock corresponding period of 1973, and even including the revenues request in our recent rate proceeding, we are still 34.4 percent below 1973. Also, net income in 1973 was less than net income in 1972, and in each year we added significantly to our plant investment. With the recent sale in June of pollution control

bonds for facilities at Plant

JC Fishing Rodeo is a big success second annual Children's pounds). Merlin recorded a Fishing Rodeo last Saturday was a huge success, by any standards.

Some 242 children of all ages "furned out from all directions for a 12-hour day of angling, starting at 6 a.m. There were even a few hardy little souls who arrived at the crack of dawn with Jaycee committeemen, and many who stayed right through until the 6 p.m. closing. Whether fishing from the Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier, rodeo headquarters, or boats, seawall or bayou, their spirits weren't dampened by either the heat or a brief but heavy

Every 'kind of equipment was in evidence, and everything caught no matter how modest the size or strange the species, was dutifully weighed and tagged by Jaycees on duty.

A wealth of prizes was given away and categories for contestants, somewhat unorthodox by usual standards, reflected the Jaycees' determination that every child should be rewarded. somehow. For instance, prizes were given for biggest trout, flounder, redfish, catfish, croaker, mullet - and miscellaneous?

Contestants were divided in two age groups - six to 12-yearolds and teenagers. Separate prizes went for pier fishing. seawall and boat. In every division there was that miscellaneous category, which was a windfall for Val Goetz, who garnered a prize under the "misc. category". with a 9 lb. 8 oz. shark, the single largest catch of the day.

And at the opposite extreme, Larry Matranga, an under 12-year-old, copped third place prize in mullets with a diminutive two oz. job.

Despite weeks of hard work prior to the rodeo and 12 long, hot hours on the pier, it was obvious that the Jaycees as well as the host of hard working wives, enjoyed the event as much as their young contestants. That is the true measure of success.
